Greetings

Welcome to this issue of The Coin Collector! Ask this question: What are the most popular series with our clients? Here is the answer: Morgan silver dollars lead the hit parade, followed in no particular order by Liberty Walking half dollars, and commemoratives of the classic 1892-1954 era. We offer you a comprehensive listing of these three series in this issue.

Knowledge! Ask this question: What is the easiest, cheapest, and most interesting way to get knowledge about coins? Here is the answer: Buy books.

Popular coins and useful books thus form the key to this issue of The Coin Collector. Our selection is extensive, and our quality cannot be exceeded. And, each coin and book in this issue comes with our famous money-back guarantee. Year in and year out, knowledgeable buyers have made Bowers and Merena Galleries their source for choice, rare, and interesting coins. If you're an old timer with us (some clients have been steady buyers ever since we started business in the 1950s) you know the quality, value, and service to expect. If this is your first catalogue from us, send a trial order and see how we do. Let us prove our motto, that we are "Your friends in the rare coin business."

See something interesting? If it's a coin, just write, call, e-mail, or fax Gail Watson or Janet Lavertue of our Direct Sales Department. If it's a book, Mary Tocci and Donna Badeau are on hand to help you in our Publications Department. Before you know it, some really beautiful coins and some really interesting books will be arriving in your mailbox.

The other day I was skimming through The American Numismatic Association Centennial History 1891-1991 and was reminded of comments made in 1933 in The Numismatist by Robert K. Botsford. Botsford was a Pennsylvania numismatist who I knew in later years, and who was exiting the hobby in the 1950s at the time I was entering it. Botsford loved coins, and I could not resist including some excerpts from his writing as a tag-on to these remarks. See his comments on page 2 of this issue. Today in 1998 we might say that "numismatists are the kindliest of men and women," and Messrs. Chapman and Zughave long since departed for another world, but other than that, the words are still applicable. With just reason, numismatics has been called "The World's Greatest Hobby."

Sincerely,

Q. David Bowers

The 1870-S $3 Gold Piece

by Tom LaMarre

Times were changing. By the end of March 1870, Congress had declared every former "rebel" state to be in regular relations with the U.S. government. As if to underscore the news, the southern crop climbed to three million bales the same year. Meanwhile, John D. Rockefeller founded the Standard Oil Company, Congress passed the 15th Amendment (prohibiting the denial of voting rights on the basis of race, color, or previous condition of servitude), and paperback "dime novels" (mostly romance and adventure stories) enjoyed widespread popular-

In San Francisco, millionaires were building elaborate mansions on Nob Hill, while at the corner of Fifth and Mission streets, the new San Francisco Mint building was taking shape. Reportedly, a glittering array of coins was placed in the cornerstone of the "Granite Lady," including the only $3 gold piece struck at the San Francisco Mint in 1870 (or in any other year after 1860 for that matter).

For many years the 1870-S $3 gold piece within the cornerstone was believed to be unique, so it was a real bombshell when a purported second example was offered in a 1911 sale. Accompanying it was a note penned by Coiner J.B. Harmstead, claiming that he had made one 1870-S $3 gold piece for himself, as a souvenir, and another to be placed in the Mint's cornerstone. The January 1911 issue of The Numismatist com-for the 1870 "S" piece an opportunity to be the only possessor of a complete collection of "threes." So far as ever has been learned there is only one such mintmark in existence, and that was the one acquired by Mr. Woodin some time ago.

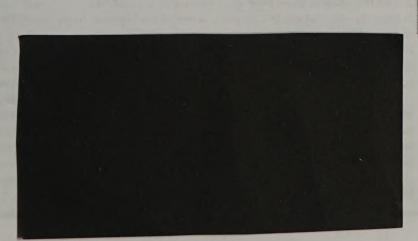

It is said than an employee of the San Francisco Mint made two of these pieces in 1870, one of which was placed in a cornerstone of a public building in that city. The other he preserved, and it afterward passed into the possession of Mr. Woodin. There are quite a number of collectors who own complete sets of the three-dollar pieces with this single exception, and it will be interesting to note who will become the new owner of the rarest of all the "threes." Woodin was president of the American Car & Foundry Company (continued on page 5)

Robert Botsford on Coin Collecting

It is absolutely necessary for a well-balanced individual to have both a vocation and an avocation. The vocation feeds the body. The avocation feeds the soul. There is a distinct place for both of these activities, and it is not wise to go to extremes with either one. The border line of each blends into the other with a nicety. Yet each individual must maintain a physical and a mental poise in order that he may escape the ravages that beset the fanatic.

Coins—gold, silver, nickel, copper—of this age and of the ages long since gone by...speak the universal language of values known and recognized by mankind. History is written upon their faces. Great events are recorded on the coins used by man. The likenesses and images of the world's famous personages are handed down to posterity on the coins of the various nations.

The great numismatists of the United States are the kindliest of men, ever ready and ever willing to be of service. They take great pride in their collections and are always ready to show their choice specimens to those who will appreciate the rarity and handle them properly.... Just go to visit some well-versed numismatist and find out what a real man he is. Call on him and let him see and know how much you are interested. Why, my friend, you have a treat in store for you that will live for years as one of the happiest, most pleasant memories of a lifetime. Words cannot give you the revelation that you will receive of what a brother really is until you spend some hours with such a man. That is, providing you are a numismatist at heart and long to learn the vast facts of the world's coins and how this kindred spirit has acquired and taken care of the specimens that have come into his possession.

I would suggest that you visit Henry Chapman, of Philadelphia, and get his grand report of a lifetime of numismatic activity. Another, sit on the spacious front porch of the home of John Zug, at Bowie (Maryland), and you will have a man for a companion that knows coins and is eager to talk about them in a way that leaves an indelible impression on the mind that enhances one's outlook on life and increases his general knowledge of the coins of all times and all ages.... Let the numismatist study the specimens he has and add to his collection as his means permit.

This & That

BARGAINS? In our opinion, serious coin collectors nearly always do best when they buy coins from a long-established, serious numismatic firm. While there may be "bargains" on television shopping networks, at flea markets, and on various non-numismatic sales outlets on the Internet, the chances for making good buys are not great. Recently, Mark Glazer wrote to state that he reviewed certain Internet offerings of tokens priced at five to 10 times what an established dealer specialist would charge! Of course, being specialized dealers ourselves, we are not without bias. However, basic checking will quickly verify the truth of what we say.

1998 IS THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY of the California Gold Rush. Curiously, there has been little numismatic notice of this watershed event, and, to our knowledge, no one has proposed a commemorative coin honoring the occasion. It is not too late for Coin World, COINage, Coins magazine, Numismatic News, or The Numismatist to come out with a special "Gold Rush issue." Who knows, Bowers and Merena might even take a full-page ad to encourage the project. Realizing that Congress seems to prefer obscure events, things, and people to commemorate, rather than nationally significant ones, we respectfully call attention to the fact that 1998 is the 100th anniversary of the Wurlitzer Tonophone, the first popular coin-operated piano to be made and sold in the United States.

A 1927 PIECE [not a typo!] DOLLAR: In the late 1940s a group of seven former schoolmates, all of whom had been born in 1927, "went to a jeweler with a 1927 Liberty Head silver dollar and had it cut into seven pieces, each punched with a hole so it could be worn with our dog tags." Years later the seven had a reunion, and "we were able to reassemble that dollar." Now we know there is at least one 1927 piece dollar in addition to all of those other 1927 Peace dollars! (Recollection of Stanley Adoff in People magazine, submitted to the Rare Coin Review by David Perkins)

BOWERS AND MERENA

"Your friends in the rare coin business"

Here at Bowers and Merena Galleries, deep in the heart of New England, we really enjoy coins. Numismatics is more than a business: it is a way of life. Each day brings with it new experiences and activities. In 1998 let Bowers and Merena Galleries be your center for enjoyment of the rare coin hobby.

Our "mission statement" here at Bowers and Merena Galleries is to enjoy what we are doing and, at the same time, treat our clients—both buying and selling—as we ourselves would like to be treated. Our formula has worked well, and over the years we have built what is probably the most successful rare coin dealership ever. Whether you are just beginning your numismatic interest and have yet to buy your first coin, or whether you have been in the field for decades, you have come to the right place. High quality, fast service, and excellent value for the price paid all add up to a big difference. We invite you to "discover" Bowers and Merena Galleries through the pages of this issue of The Coin Collector and the books and coins you order from it. A sample order will convince you!

When buying coins, our objective is to provide you with the quality coins you desire at prices you will find to be reasonable. When acquiring coins for our inventory, we select each one with a great deal of care. Each coin from this issue of The Coin Collector comes with a 30-day money-back guarantee (seven days for certified coins). We guarantee you'll find every coin to be exactly to your liking, or you can return it; no explanation necessary.

When acquiring coins, we either buy collections and individual pieces outright for our inventory, or offer what we consider to be a really fine auction service.

By treating our clients as we ourselves would like to be treated, we have built what is probably the most successful rare coin dealership in America today. Since our founding in 1953, we have handled a large share of the finest private and museum collections and rarities to come on the market. Our catalogues and other publications have won more Catalogue of the Year Award and Book of the Year Award honors than have those of any other firm.

Our chairman, Q. David Bowers, has served as president of the American Numismatic Association (1983-1985) and the Professional Numismatists Guild (1977-1979), and has received numismatics' highest honors including the Numismatic Ambassador Award, the A.N.A. Hall of Fame, the Farran Zerbe Award, and the P.N.G. Founders' Award.

Our staff numismatists including Mark Borckardt, John Pack, Beth Piper, Gail Watson, and others, have had distinguished careers for many years.

I have served as president of the P.N.G., have received the P.N.G.'s highest honor—The Abe Kosoff Founders Award, and am active in quite a few other areas as well. I am enthusiastic about coins, about our fine organization, and about having you as a client.

From our headquarters building we are a prime source of choice, rare, and desirable coins for collectors, dealers, and museums in all parts of the world. In addition, we conduct public auction sales in New York City, Baltimore, Los Angeles, and other leading metropolitan

Let us help you build a truly beautiful rare coin collection.

And, along the way, we'll do our best to make the hobby as enjoyable for you.

American Numismatics Before the Civil War

Civil War.

In the near future, Q. David Bowers'American Numismatics Before the Civil War 1760-1860 will be delivered to our doorstep. This literary treasure trove will delight historians, numismatists, and anyone else who enjoys a good book.

Now, through the pages of this book, you are there in the cradle days of American numismatics! You'll "meet" Augustus B. Sage and share his experiences. You'll "attend" auction sales. When you finish the book you will have experienced a journey to the past; you will see the field of numismatics as it is born and as it develops.

In the early days of 1858, in his family home in New York City, the American Numismatic Society was founded. In 1859, Sage was the most important cataloguer of coins for auction. ## Comments from the experts:

"Dave Bowers' American Numismatics Before the Civil War 1760-1860 is skillfully researched and written. It's his best yet! This is a book to read, to enjoy, to learn about the hobby's beginnings in the United States. It is definitely one for every numismatic library.' · Beth Deisher, editor, Coin

"American Numismatics Before the Civil War 1760-1860 is chock full of American history, numismatic history, and coins. Bowers brings us back to a time when collecting coins was fresh, new, and exciting. We are all better off knowing the story of Augustus B. Sage and numismatics is richer because of the literary efforts of Q. David Bowers.'

Collectors' Comments

J.O. Writes

"I have just finished reading my copy of American Coin Treasures and Hoards. What a tour de force! Any kid who has ever dreamed of finding pirate treasure will find this book to be absolutely irresistible. The adventure, the romance, and even the tragedies that you recount make it a riveting read. For the confirmed numismatist, the gathering of coin hoard stories from literally hundreds of different sources is a service in itself. The only thing that disappointed me in this book is that you didn't write about a still-undiscovered hoard in my hometown!

"Recently, I've learned a bit more about hoards of old numismatic catalogues including two owned by John W. Kline. I'm pretty sure that Kline's stuff provided the seed for Henry Chapman's 'Adirondack Find' that John Adams mentioned in his reference book. In any case, if you do a second edition (I'm sure that this one will sell out fast) I would have more information to share if you could use it.

"P.S. When will you be selling metal

Dr. E.S. Writes from California

"It was an unexpected pleasure to receive your kind letter as well as the marvelous book. In these days of endless rushing and nameless, faceless electronic communication, it is indeed a joy to read an 'oldfashioned' letter and to feel a connection with the person, something radically missing from 'e-mail.'

"I associate your name with the collecting I did long ago, recalling assiduously the books you wrote and also the grading book written by your fine associate, Jim Ruddy. And, your advertisements featured the most wonderful coins in Coin World. I appreciate your taking the time to communicate and kindly assist (through your mailing list) someone returning to coins after too long an absence. In the last years when I actively collected, I recall my father purchasing for me an Uncirculated Liberty Head double eagle for $60! This was in the days before certified grading, and things seemed simpler than they are now.

"I used to collect mostly 20th-century series, buying specimens I could, as a boy, afford. I also became interested in type collecting; eventually obtaining high-grade circulated issues, although no 18th-century pieces. I was able to obtain as well a few gold coins, the highlight of almost any collection.

"Currently, my interest has matured to what dazzled me then but was beyond my reach; namely gem brilliant Uncirculated specimens of gold coins and nice silver issues, and higher grade circulated early coinage. I am particularly interested in an Indian Head $10 and a Saint-Gaudens $20, each in selected quality MS-65.

"I wish to reiterate that it is indeed a pleasure and a privilege to contemplate obtaining rare coins from one of the most, if not the most, respected name in the business. Thank you again for the personal attention."

This & That

featured on them,

Mount Vernon and Faneuil Hall.

"BIBLIOPOLE" means "seller of rare books," according to the American Heritage Dictionary. Although we have located Mr. Leonard Hartmann, a "philatelic bibliopole," we have yet to see "numismatic bibliopole" on any business card or letterhead. We also learned that the "I" in folk, yolk, and even President James Knox Polk is silent, and correct pronunciation are, respectively, "foke," "yoke," and "Poke."

THE COMFORT OF GOLD: Every once in a while a financial guru states that holding gold or other solid, tangible assets is old-fashioned. However, every once in a while a notice such as this, in a recent issue of The Wall Street Journal (August 14, 1998, page 1) makes one think that, after all, there is comfort in "hard" assets: "Russia's markets were paralyzed amid fears that the government would default on its debt, devalue the ruble, or both. Trading in stocks, bonds, and currency froze as banks and brokers refused each other's business....

TO RAISE MONEY in the "initial public offering" (IPO) sector of the stock market, it pays to have ".com" as part of your business title, according to several accounts we've read recently. With ".com" it is not necessary to make a profit, and even companies that have racked up mind-boggling losses for multiple quarters can turn a profit. Of course, the market loves its darlings, but when they fall, everyone then says "I knew it would happen." Meanwhile, the large brokerage houses who, certainly, will "know" at a later time, are saying nothing now. This reminds us to comment that the compensation system for stockbrokers seems to be all wrong. If one buys shares and holds them for years, as for example your editor has done with Walt Disney Enterprises and a few other "pets," the stockbrokers make no money during this holding period. Thus, many brokers are motivated to suggest that clients buy or sell, even though it would not be in the clients' best financial interests. (Of course, most mutual funds, with an annual maintenance fee, have solved this problem, and those that run the funds are oriented toward achieving the best return for their clients.)

Congratulations to our Contest Winners!

Thank you to all who participated in our contest featured in Rore Coin Review No. 124 "Guess How Many Numismatic Titles Dave has Written." All winners will be receiving gift certificates shortly.

Here is what we considered to be the winning list of numismatic books of 100 pages or more each written or co-authored by QDB from 1964 to 1997 inclusive. (If a book has gone through multiple editions, it is listed just once; two-volume sets count as one title.) Although a few titles are now out of print, we highly recommend the following as a checklist for your library! We've added a few comments here and there.

This adds up to 37 titles.

- Abe Kosoff: Dean of Numismatics (highly-acclaimed biography of one of America's leading rare coin dealers, founder of the Professional Numismatists Guild)
- Adventures with Rare Coins (super-popular book that went through many printings; now out of print, and planned to stay that way, although Dave might write a sequel)
- American Coin Treasures and Hoords (just about everybody likes this book, and at a recent educational symposium, John J. Ford, Jr., spent more than just a few sentences telling everyone in the audience that this book is a must for any library; lots of "fun" reading!)
  - Bosic Guide to United States Commemorative Coins (with Michael J. Hodder).
- Buyer's and Enthusiast's Guide to Flying Eagle and Indian Cents (it would be hard to imagine any serious collector who lacks this book; besides the title subject, there is a wealth of information about die-making and minting procedures)
- Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars (about 1,001 of our clients have written to say, in effect, "This is one of the most useful books I've ever bought!")
- Buyer's Guide to the Rare Coin Market (now out of print, but we're working on a revised edition, in response to, again, about 1,001 comments)
  - Buyer's Guide to United States Gold Coins (a minor title at best)
  - Coins and Collectors (Dave's first book, published in 1964)
- Collecting Rare Coins for Profit (published by Harper & Row; this leading publisher wanted Dave to do another for the general book market trade, but QDB opted not to, as he wanted to write primarily for numismatic writers)
- Commemorative Coins of the United States: A Complete Encyclopedia (a huge book which many have considered to be the first and last word on the subject; this book contains enough facts and other information for five "normal" books!)
  - Common Sense Coin Investment (with Kenneth E. Bressett)
- High Profits from Rare Coin Investment (also issued in a German-language edition; not counted here as a separate title)
- How to be a Successful Coin Dealer (written for and published by Coin World; out of print for a long time; perhaps we should write an update, for, after all, coin certification was invented in 1986, which is since the last updating was done!)
- Inside View of the Coin Hobby in the 1930s: The Walter P. Nichols File (quite a few serious students of coin business history have enjoyed this one; it is sort of a cult favorite with numismatic bibliophiles)
- Louis E. Eliasberg, Sr., King of Coins (this book, and many others on this list, have won the coveted "Book of the Year Award" given by the Numismatic Literary Guild)
- Norweb Collection: An American Legacy (with Michael J. Hodder; a great book about a great numismatic family)
- Numismatist's Bedside Companion (The "Companion" books have QDB as the main author, but contain many other contributions as well; each is a smorgasbord of interesting articles)
  - Mumismatist's Countryside Companion
  - Mumismotist's Downtown Companion
  - Numismatist's Fireside Companion
  - Numismatist's Lakeside Companion
  - Numismatist's Topside Companion
  - Mumismatist's Traveling Companion
  - M Numismotist's Weekend Companion
- Silver Dollars and Trode Dollors of the United States: A Complete Encyclopedia (two volumes; now out of print, but we're thinking of updating and revising it, knowing that the first thousand sets would be a sellout, even at the best part of $200 for the set)
- American Numismatic Association Centennial History 1891-1991 (two volumes; fewer than 100 sets remain unsold as of this writing)
- History of United States Coinoge (as Illustrated by the Garrett Collection) ("equal to a university course in numismatics," one reviewer commented)
- Standard Catalogue of Encased Postage Stamps (with Michael J. Hodder)
- Stronge Career of Dr. Wilkins: A Numismatic Inquiry (arcane and obscure, but interesting)
  - United States Coins by Design Types: An Action Guide for the Collector and Investor
- United States Copper Coins: An Action Guide for the Collector and Investor
- United States Dimes, Quarters, and Half Dollars: An Action Guide for the Collector and Investor
- United States Gold Coins: An Illustrated History
- United States Three-Cent and Five-Cent Pieces: An Action Guide for the Collector and Investor
- Virgil Brand: The Mon and His Era, Profile of a Numismatist (there will never be another super-collector the equal of Virgil Brand, as you will quickly learn as you read this text)
  - Waterford Water Cure (much ado about something trivial, a book that belongs on the shelf right next to the aforementioned The Stronge Coreer of Dr. Wilkins)

If there are any of these titles that you don't own yet, be sure to see our Books for Sale section on page 8 of this issue.

Because You Asked

We invite readers to submit questions of interest in the field of American numismatics. All questions will be answered, and some will be used in this column.

R.E. ASKS: Recently I was offered a 1652 Massachusetts silver shilling called a "contemporary counterfeit." My question is this: Does "contemporary" mean that it was made recently, or does it mean that it was made in 1652?

cc ANSWERS: A "contemporary counterfeit" is one that was made in the same general era in which originals were made. Many contemporary counterfeits in various series, if die struck, have numismatic value, often considerable. Examples of valuable contemporary counterfeits include the 1785 Ryder-5 Vermont copper, many Machin's Mills imitation British halfpence, the 1786 Nova Constellatio copper, and the 1793 Strawberry Leaf copper cent.

A recent counterfeit would be properly described as a "modern counterfeit," "recent counterfeit," or some other term indicating that it was made in our own time. Such counterfeits have little if any numismatic value.

L.L. ASKS: I enjoy my collection of

Morgan silver dollars, but I am having trouble defining what my collection should be. What varieties should I include? I am not a "magnifying glass collector," and I am not particularly interested in using a microscope to determine which variety is which. Right now I have 47 different dates and mintmarks from 1878 to 1921, most of which I bought from Bowers and Merena.

CCANSWERS: I suggest that you buy just one of each date and mintmark in the date range you mention. I haven't counted them all up, but the Guide Book will give you a good listing from which to pick these out. This will amount to somewhat over 95 different coins. In addition, add any varieties which you find interesting and, per your dislike for magnification, which are also obvious. Such varieties as the "Overfeathers" variety of 1878 and the 1900-O/CC overmintmark are always nice to own and later served as U.S. secretary of the Treasury (1933). He was also a numismatist of great ability and was the first person to write on the subject of rare gold coins as being a worthwhile financial investment. Moreover, he wrote the standard reference book on United States pattern coins, published by the American Numismatic Society in 1912. His friend and fellow numismatist, Edgar H. Adams, took the photographs.

At the 1911 sale, his $3 gold piece was purchased by S. Hudson Chapman for $1,470 (several hundred dollars more than the price of a new Model 63 Stanley Steamer touring car).

In 1945, the Celina Coin Company of Celina, OH, owned by brothers Ted and Carl Brandts, specialized in rarities. A showpiece among their offerings was the 1870-S $3 gold piece formerly owned by Woodin. An advertisement in the pages of The Numismatist read:

THE RAREST UNITED STATES COIN—THREE DOLLAR GOLD PIECE—1870 SAN FRANCISCO MINT.

The only coin listed as UNIQUE in the Standard Catalogue of United States Coins. As far as we know, there was only one piece struck. Some claim two specimens were struck, one being in the cornerstone of the San Francisco Mint. PRICE ON APPLICATION.

It was later acquired by Baltimore, Maryland, banker, Louis E. Eliasberg, Sr. According to Morton B. Stack in a communication to Mr. Eliasberg, the Brandts wanted $12,500 The Rarest United States Coin for the coin, however Mr. Stack was able to obtain it for just $11,000 THREE DOLLAR GOLD PIECE plus a commission of five percent. Therefore, the SAN FRANCISCO MINT coin cost $11,550 as shown by an invoice dated January 28, 1946. Eliasberg died in 1976. At a 1982 Bowers and Ruddy Galleries auction, the 1870-S $3 gold piece realized $687,500.

> Today in 1998, North American Coins & Prices and the Guide Book of United States Coins describe the 1870-S $3 gold piece as "unique," while other references cite a mintage of two pieces, although no second specimen has ever come to light. No one knows for certain which

In addition to an 1870-S $3 gold piece, the "Granite Lady's" cornerstone may contain now, or may have contained at one time, a Liberty Seated silver dollar and half dime of the same year. Fewer than a dozen 1870-S dollars are known, including the "Eureka" specimen, so named because it was discovered in the cash register of an apothecary in Eureka, California around 1918. The 1870-S half dime was unknown until an example was found in 1978.

Later the 1870-S $3, believed to be unique, passed into the collection of Harry W. Bass, Jr.. In 1989 at the Coinage of the Americas Conference held by the American Numismatic Society, it was on loan exhibit, much to the delight of those attending the event.

THE PENNSYLVANIA ACADEMY

OF THE FINE ARTS
PEHADELPHA

In our last issue we illustrated this "mystery man," an individual who played a small role in American coinage. Now we identify him. He is none other than Philadelphia attorney John Frederick Lewis, a prominent local patron of the arts, who furnished the idea for the design of the 1926 Sesquicentennial commemorative half dollar, the dies for which were subsequently cut by John R. Sinnock (chief engraver at the Mint). For years the Mint maintained that Sinnock designed the half dollar, a falsehood that found its way into numerous reference books and other printed sources of information. As Don Taxay suggested in his 1967 reference on the commemorative series, "Perhaps...it is time for a new credit line." Actually Lewis and Sinnock should share the credit.

The catalogue shown here (recently purchased from Joslin Hall Rare Books and added to our library) illustrated Lewis on the frontispiece and described his collection of American portraits which had been presented to the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and other institutions

Relevant to numismatics and to the Sesquicentennial half dollar (which pictures Washington on the obverse along with President Calvin Coolidge), the foreword to the book, by Mantle Fielding, noted: "Mr. Lewis was especially interested in portraits of George Washington—many likenesses of whom he made as gifts, at different times, to various schools and libraries of the city."

By (Buy) The Book!

Test Your Numismatic Knowledge

How many times have you heard, "It's in the book"? Or, "A university is but a collection of books"? To paraphrase Shakespeare, get thee to a bookery. A library of interesting books about numismatics will be a joy forever and will repay its cost many times over in terms of pleasure and information derived. However, this is a quiz, not an enticement to buy books. Thus, we offer clues concerning five different aspects of American numismatic authors and publications. How many can you identify? Get three or more right, and you are doing well. Get four right, and you are in the expert class. Get all five correct, and you deserve a nice copy of Dr. Montroville W. Dickeson's American Numismatical Manual published in 1859. Answers are given at the end.

- 1. This gentleman early in his career was a banker, in 1910 proposed forming a coin business in New York City in partnership with Texas numismatist B. Max Mehl, and in the 1930s launched the Standard Catalogue of United States Coins (published under various titles through 1957):
  - a. Benjamin C. True.
  - b. Wayte Raymond.
  - c. Justus P. Seeburg.
  - d. Theodore Venn.
- 2. For many years the Numismatic Literary Guild has been a focal point for writers in our hobby. Among the group's many leading personalities in recent years have been all but one of the following. Pick out the non-NLG person:
  - a. Kay E. Lenker.

- 3. Such names as Kari Stone, Beth Deisher, David Harper, and Barbara Gregory, among
- others, are significant in numismatics as: a. Authors and/or researchers in the field of U.S. copper cents 1793-1814.
  - b. Editors of leading periodicals.

b. David T. Alexander.

d. Edgar H. Adams.

c. Ed Reiter.

- c. Past and present compilers of A Guide Book of U.S. Coins.
- d. Coin market price analysts whose works are widely read.
- 4. A list that includes such names as Walter Breen, Anthony Swiatek, Charles Foster, B. Max Mehl, your editor (QDB), David Bullowa, Don Taxay, and Arlie Slabaugh would no doubt refer to authors who each have written or co-authored one or more studies in the field of:

- a. Flying Eagle and Indian cents.
- b. Out-of-print numismatic literature.
- c. Morgan silver dollars.
- d. U.S. commemorative coins.
- 5. The most valuable American numismatic library ever to cross the auction block was valued at about $1 million, was catalogued by Charles Davis, was auctioned by B&M, and featured the holdings of:
  - a. Louis Roederer.
  - b. Armand Champa.
  - c. Aaron Feldman.
  - d. Henry Chapman, Jr.

This & That

DOUG NYHOLM sent a clipping the other day from the Enquirer-Bulletin, published in Burlingame, CA. The article, "Frontier Journalism: An editor will shoot anybody but a paying subscriber," by Michael Svanevik and Shirley Burgett, told of the rough and ready times of the Gold Rush. The Californian, a weekly published at $5 per year, was a "one-page, 8 by 12 inch sheet, was dim, dirty, and printed on paper normally used for wrapping cigars; two V's compensated for missing W's." However, by late spring 1848 the news of gold had become so intense that it was impossible to find employees for the paper, and it and a rival locked their doors in mid-June, later merging and reappearing in the autumn. Things changed, and as the novelty of rushing to the gold fields diminished, journalism became more important. By 1853 there were 12 daily newspapers in San Francisco. One early paper was called the Evening Picayune, but it was not stated that the term picayune has a connection to numismatics; it was slang for a 6-1/2¢ Spanish-American silver coin, also called a half-bit or medio. At the time there were no copper coins in circulation in San Francisco and no paper money; it was strictly a gold and silver city.

SPEAKING OF THE GOLD RUSH, our Graphics Department is working on a fine new book based upon research gathered by Dan Owens. To be published jointly with Stack's, the volume will give information on California gold assayers and coiners circa 1849-1863 and will be a gold mine (pun intended) of information not easily available elsewhere, and never before in a single volume.

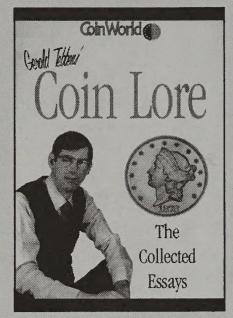

FURTHER SPEAKING OF GOLD, on our recent trip way out West and our book-buying splurge, we acquired a nice account, published in 1865, of dealers in gold bars in the Idaho Territory. It seems that much if not most Idaho gold was shipped to the San Francisco Mint. Thus, a given 1864-S or 1865-S gold coin may be made of Idaho metal. We'll print some excerpts from this long-ago account in a future issue of the Rare Coin Review or in The Coin Collector.

Two New Books!

➤ Gerald Tebbens' Coin Lore, collected essays by this popular Coin World columnist. 224 pages. Easy, informative reading on about as many various subjects as there are chapters in the book: 42 different. Softbound, illustrated. Stock No. BTE-800. List price $22.00. For your special discount see page 8.

≺ The Smart Collector, compiled by the editors of Coin World. A handy 254-page softbound commentary on various American series, arranged by denomination from the half cent to $20 gold, plus "Collecting Type Sets." General information is given concerning each design, followed by "What Will It Cost?" (a commentary on the cost of forming a collection of the specialty in certain grades) and "Fast Facts" (basis information on weight, diameter, etc.) A useful addition to a general library. Softbound, profusely illustrated. Stock No. BCW-700. List price $22.00. For your special discount see page 8.
